

Sec. 31-236-4. Reasonable distance of offer of work

In determining whether work offered is within a reasonable distance, the Administrator shall consider:

- (1) availability of public transportation;
- (2) personal means of transportation available to the individual;
- (3) common commuting patterns for individuals similarly situated;
- (4) the individual's physical condition;
- (5) actual distance in miles between the individual's residence at the time of the offer and the place of employment.

(Effective June 24, 1986)