

Sec. 17a-636-5. Contesting the content of personal data records

(a) Any person who believes that the Commission is maintaining inaccurate, incomplete or irrelevant personal data concerning him/her may file a written request with the official of the Commission who is responsible for maintaining such records for correction of said personal data.

(b) Within thirty (30) days of receipt of such request, the official of the Commission who is responsible for maintaining the records shall give written notice to that person that the Commission will make the requested correction, or if the correction is not to be made as submitted, the official of the Commission shall state the reason for the Commission's denial of such request and notify the person of his/her right to add his/her own statement to his/her personal data records.

(c) Following such denial by the Commission, the person requesting such correction shall be permitted to add a statement to his/her personal data records setting forth what that person believes to be an accurate, complete and relevant version of the personal data in question. Such statements shall become a permanent part of the Commission's personal data system and shall be disclosed to any individual, agency or organization to which the disputed data is disclosed.

(Effective March 4, 1991)
